this accessible book examines the philosophical foundations of chaim perel man's rhetorical theory in addition to offering a brief biography it explores perelman's deep philosophical commitments and his concern for the ways in which the details of actual texts realize those commitments the authors show that perelman still reigns supreme when it comes to the elucidation of actual texts his is a micro analysis of arguments one that is endlessly suggestive of ways of analyzing texts at the level of the word and phrase the arrangement of parts and the structure of arguments providing fully developed rhetorical theories from feminist perspectives this book offers coherent systematic overviews of complex large bodies of work and ideas relevant to rhetoric and communication the book presents theories developed from the work of nine feminist theorists each from diverse standpoints demonstrating the diversity of both feminism and feminist rhetorical theories chris kramarae bell hooks gloria anzaldua mary daly starhawk paula gunn allen trinh t minh ha sally miller gearhart and sonia johnson the resulting theories differ substantially from traditional rhetorical theories and will encourage scholars to rethink many traditional rhetorical constructs the question of being was integral to the philosophy of martin heidegger 1889 1976 and was a large factor in the development of his political and aesthetic thought in heidegger and the question of national socialism bernhard radloff investigates the philosophical foundations and cultural context of heidegger's conception of being focusing on the idea of gestalt as the guiding thread that determined german conservative thought throughout the 1930s in doing so heidegger's philosophy is related to the whole of german society at the time a society in which gestalt was the guiding light and the ultimate aspiration of artists technicians and politicians throughout the book heidegger's own understanding of gestalt is used as a window to his thoughts on being which is conceived of as incorporated finite and historically situated in beings concentrating on the years between 1933 and 1942 radloff seeks to capture the response of heidegger's philosophy to national socialism examining key works and relating them to the literature of the german conservative revolution heidegger and the question of national socialism is therefore a thorough treatment of his political philosophy as it relates to the question of being adopting both a historical and phenomenological approach to the subject this book is equally an examination of german conservative ideology a critique of technological determinism and a study of one of the most controversial philosophers of twentieth century the new rhetoric is founded on the idea that since argumentation aims at securing the adherence of those to whom it is addressed it is in its entirety relative to the audience to be influenced says chaim perelman and l olbrechts tyteca and they rely in particular for their theory of argumentation on the twin concepts of universal and particular audiences while every argument is directed to a specific individual or group the orator decides what information and what approaches will achieve the greatest adherence according to an ideal audience this ideal perelman explains can be embodied for example in god in all reasonable and competent men in the man deliberating or in an elite like particular audiences then the universal audience is never fixed or absolute but depends on the orator the content and goals of the argument and the particular audience to whom the argument is addressed these considerations determine what information constitutes facts and reasonableness and thus help to determine the universal audience that in turn shapes the orator's approach the adherence of an audience is also determined by the orator's use of values a further key concept of the new rhetoric perelman's treatment of value and his view of epideictic rhetoric sets his approach apart from that of the ancients and of aristotle in particular aristotle's division of rhetoric into three genres forensic deliberative and epideictic is largely motivated by the judgments required for each forensic or legal arguments require verdicts on past action deliberative or political rhetoric seeks judgment on future action and epideictic or ceremonial rhetoric concerns values associated with praise or blame and seeks no specific decisions for aristotle the epideictic genre was of limited importance in the civic realm since it did not concern facts or policies perelman in contrast believes not only that epideictic rhetoric warrants more attention but that the values normally limited to that genre are in fact central to all argumentation epideictic oratory perelman argues has significant and important argumentation for strengthening the disposition toward action by increasing adherence to the values it lauds these values are central to the persuasiveness of arguments in all rhetorical genres since the orator always attempts to establish a sense of communion centered around particular values recognized by the audience examining donne s poetry and his increasingly sophisticated use of rhetoric baumlin argues that there are four distinct theories of historical rhetoric the incarnational the transcendental the sceptical and the sophistic which foster four distinct theories of reading this book makes a rhetorical approach to human communication accessible to readers
